HEAVYWEIGHT HORSES AND RIDERS

Although we may not be any smarter than our ancestors of a hundred years ago, we are unquestionably a lot bigger. Thanks to medical science, particularly in the field of nutrition, our boys and girls are from three to five inches taller than the average height of their great grandparents. What are present day breeders of riding horses doing to meet this situation?

The answer is practically nothing. As a matter of fact big horses are decreasing in number, not increasing. In this country the three breeds which have made such rapid strides in the past 20 years—the Thoroughbred, the Standardbred, and the Quarter Horse—are relatively small. The big, roomy mares once kept for driving to market and tilling the soil have been replaced, first by automobiles and then by tractors. This is taking place all over the world, even in Ireland. In East Prussia (now part of Poland) and in West Germany, in spite of its heavy industrialisation, farmers continue to work their land with horses and heavyweight riding horses are still being produced, but otherwise the animals up to carrying 200 pounds or better across country are bred by scattered individuals—and not many of them.

We still have stallions available from the few remaining breeds of heavyweight riding horses—the Cleveland Bay, the Trakehner, the Normand (French Coach Horse), the Holsteiner and the Hannoveraner. There are a few Cleveland Bays and Holsteiners in this country, a few Trakehners, Normands and Hannoveraners in Canada. Although breeding heavyweights is obviously not a business, like breeding race horses, there are many horsemen who can well afford the fun of putting a Thoroughbred or near Thoroughbred mare to a stallion of these breeds and of raising, schooling and riding their offspring.

In approaching the breeding of weight carriers, there are several factors to be considered. In the wet climate of the British Isles the going is so deep that a big horse is really essential to carry a big man (or woman) across country. In the dryer climate of North America, where a horse does not sink fetlock deep at every stride, there is less need for sheer power and dinnerplate feet. We can use a breeder animal, particularly if he has good action. At the same time he must be tall enough so that our 6' 2" men and 5' 10" women don't hit their feet over fences. Even though they ride only on the flat, most people prefer a horse tall enough to appear in proportion with the rider.

In addition to reasonable height and sufficient depth through the heart so that the rider's feet are not lower than the bottom of the girth, we look for sloping shoulders and good withers, for strength over the back and loins, and for action—the horse in balance, with a long efficient stride, the legs in line, the feet neither paddling nor dishing. All these are still of no avail without sound feet and legs with sufficient bone to carry the load above—height alone means nothing as far as weight carrying is concerned.

The final—and most important—factor is condition. No horse can carry weight unless he is in the best of health, his muscles and lungs hard and fit. Particularly at this time of year, when horses come up from grass, soft and 100 to 200 pounds overweight, we run grave risks unless we take time to condition them properly. In the show ring one hears many an argument as to whether a given horse is a middle weight, up to carrying 185 pounds, or a heavyweight, up to carrying 205 pounds—a difference of 20 pounds. How silly this sounds when one realizes that this same animal is carrying 150 to 200 pounds of surplus fat! Having secured a weight carrying horse, let us make sure that he is in condition to carry it.

Letters . . . . . Equestrian Coverage

Dear Sir:

In response to letters written by Mrs. Tucker and Mr. Wiesensthal in the July 8th and 2nd issues of The Chronicle, I am enclosing a sample of the complete coverage we received of the Equestrian events at Rome (Editor's Note: - The item is headed "Equestrian Report Later").

You will note that as the Sports Section of this leading newspaper was insufficient to cover the non-riding events they were moved to page one of the news section, leaving room for two descriptive sentences to satisfy the interest of equestrian enthusiasts in this area. The area currently supports more than 39,000 riding horses.

I hope this matter will not be dropped. It is only our efforts in such a medium as The Chronicle that will bring recognition of the press to equine sporting events other than the pari-mutuels.

Sincerely,
Mrs. H. Krull

Judge Browning's Second Fix

Raleigh Burroughs

Judge Browning owns a farm in Western Maryland and operates an insurance business in Baltimore and has been a fishing partner of mine for a quarter of a century. (Gee, that's a long time!)

In the days when he was working for someone else he could neglect business every afternoon when the races were in Maryland. Since he's been the boss, he devotes more time to desk drudgery and rarely finds his way to the course, but he has a wealth of memories and they go back beyond Man o'War.

Once or twice a year I manage to get up to the Judge's farm for two days, during which time we lash the trout streams to a froth and sometimes bring home meat.

In the evenings we sit in the Browning music room surrounded by the Judge's mongrel dogs and his thoroughbred wife.

The tender-hearted Mrs. Browning has compassion for every living thing. No hungry or friendless critter is turned away, and you can accumulate a mess of hard-eating, unwanted animals that way.

One mother beagle, hurrying to the maternity hospital, found she couldn't make it, deposited her litter in the Browning barn, and went on about her business.

Feeling sensible all of a sudden, Mrs. B. called the Humane Society and asked that the pups be removed and put to sleep.

The gent from the Humane Society couldn't get there that day nor the next. When he finally arrived, Mrs. Browning loved the little dogs so much she couldn't part with them.

Matured now, these creatures demonstrate their gratitude by crowding guests off the upholstered furniture.

Cats, of course, thrive in such surroundings. One midget feline, name of Homer, can open a screen door from the outside and will take up a position in a baby's highchair and "speak" for food.

Doc, a ponderous part-pointer, will sit right beside you at the dinner table and never touch the food on your plate - when he thinks you are looking. And if you have any affection for your fork hand, you'd better keep him thinking you are looking.

On my last visit to the Brownings we got to talking about racing.

The Judge pushed the ponderous part-pointer off his lap and observed, "Some time ago I told you about that fix at Timonium (The Chronicle, February 20, 1959); tonight, I'm going to tell you about the one in Anne Arundel County."

Fix Failed

For those who just came in, the "fix" at Timonium was put on many, many years ago, and the elected horse was beaten half a length, after bolting the first time around. It was a complete triumph for good over premeditated (and carefully arranged) evil.

"This race," Judge Browning went on, "wasn't a horserace, it was at the whippet track and if you don't want to hear it, I'll tell it any way. Now move over a little on the settee, you're crowding Arthur.

There wasn't much a fellow could do but give Arthur (one of the mongrel beagles) more room, and listen.

The Riviera Beach Fix

It was in the late '20's (the Judge began) and Knightie, the bookie, worked out a plan to put on whippet races, near a community called Riviera Beach - not the one in Boston where they run greyhounds. This one is in Maryland.

In those days, they raced whippets over a 200-yard straight course in lanes formed by tapes. The dogs had to stay in their lanes or were disqualified.

Handicapping was worked out by the use of individual starting boxes. A portable box that opened electrically was placed in each lane.

Pipes containing electric cables divided the lanes for about the first 50 yards of the course. There were outlets about every 20 feet along these pipes and electric cords from the boxes were plugged into them.

The "scratch" dog usually ran 200 yards and the others were given handicaps of from a yard to 20 yards.

Ran True

Those little dogs ran very true to form in rarely more than one-fifth of a second one way or the other for 200 yards. If a whippet was a 13-second dog, you could bet your stopwatch that he'd run the distance within a tick of that time in every heat.

Before a race, the dogs were exhibited in the paddock by their owners. The whippets were pretty slick-looking little fellows, but the owners - wow! They were short, tall, thin, fat, sloppy, neat, men, women and children.

Knightie, the bookie, set up a booth back of the grandstand and showed the odds on a slate. If anybody bet ten dollars on an animal the price went to 3 to 5. Usually, there were eight dogs in a race, and the odds went from as low as you can calculate up to a generous 6 to 1. On occasions when there was a dog that absolutely could not win, and no one had bet on it, the odds might be 20. The first buck bet on him cut the odds in half and the second put him down to the conventional 6 to 1.

Of course, no dog-player made a fortune, but the book did okay, because no one knew what the take was.

When it was time for the race, the assorted owners trudged down the track, pulled by their eager dogs. At the starting point, the lively little beasts were put into the starting boxes, the doors were latched and the owners galloped up the course, bellying for their pets to follow them.

When the handlers crossed the finish line, they turned, faced down the track and shrieked, and whistled and waved rags. The starter pushed the button and the race was on.

Matter of Mathematics

A good track handicapper with a slide rule could make every race just about an eight-dog dead-heat.

With the race handicapped properly,

Steeplechasing at Belmont

John E. Cooper

Rolling on to a record breaking victory, Sanford Stud Farm's Sun Dog captured his second Grand National on Tuesday, October 12th, his winning time of 5:54 1/5 bettering Neji's 1958 mark by almost twelve full seconds. It was the first score for the *Hunters Moon 4th-SunDance gelding in five starts this season, and the first since his 1959 victory in the premier American steeplechase classic, which last year was run at Aqueduct. Tommy Walsh was the winning jockey on that occasion; on Tuesday Walsh returned to pilot Sun Dog for the second time.

Jumping in almost faultless fashion, and rattling off the last mile like a fresh horse, Sun Dog came up to the wire with a 15 length advantage over F. Eugene Dixon, Jr.'s Cartagena, which in turn was another eight lengths in front of the favorite, Montpelier's Benguala. Bureaucracy was a distant fourth and last after Out of Reach lost his rider three fences from home due to a broken stirrup iron.

For almost a turn of the field, Bureaucracy, racing for Mrs. Ogden Phipps, and ridden by Paddy Smithwick, showed the way while jumping well, and gave promise of carrying his 139 lbs., to a front running victory as he did in a shorter overnight race the week before. Cartagena (145 lbs.) ran closest, followed by Out of Reach (134 lbs.) and Sun Dog. Benguala (156 lbs.) jumped poorly over both the first and second fences and dropped back to last. Going by the stands the second time, Cartagena ranged up on closer terms with Bureaucracy, with the others well grouped four or five lengths away. Going to the clubhouse turn, Walsh moved up on he outside with Sun Dog (145 lbs.) after a slight bobble at the fence just before, and lay a close up third to the first two around the turn. Down the far side the last time, Cartagena and Bureaucracy raced head and head over the first two fences, with the latter giving way midway down. Cartagena held command briefly, but bobbled the second last fence and Sun Dog rushed into the lead. From that point on there was never a question. Evidently fancying the hard footing, Sun Dog cleared the rest of his fences in faultless fashion, and while ridden out, appeared much the best; in fact Walsh hand rode him through the stretch and looked over his shoulder several times to make sure that a late bid from Benguala would not catch him unawares. Cartagena, perhaps the most consistent of this year's crop of brush horses, ran his race, but was not good enough at the weights. In contrast, Benguala, which has shown several good efforts, and captured the Brook, his previous start, in convincing fashion, jumped poorly over most of the sixteen fences, and lost whatever chance he had. Bureaucracy tired in the last half mile, and was nursed over the final fence to get home for fourth place.

Brannagh Wins

Rare for any sort of jumping race in the closing weeks of the season, a mile and seven eighths test over hurdles on Monday drew an outside field, with two of the 14 entrants being listed as "also eligible". Twelve went postward with the favorite, Charkitt Stable's Brannagh taking the lead early and staying there all the way to score by two and a half lengths. *Sunny Celt, which was held close to the lead throughout, held well to be second two lengths in front of the fast closing Cathness, which after being kept on the outside, found racing room close to the rail in the last half mile, and made up a lot of ground. It was another length and a half back to Laughing Girl which also closed well, but was never a serious threat.

THE CHRONICLE

On Thursday, Bob McDonald won a narrow victory on Allison Stern's Greek Brother at the direct expense of Paddy Smithwick on C. R. Snowden's Nizam's Pet. The latter, a good winner in allowance company a few seasons ago, has run in claiming races this year, and while lacking some of the verve she used to have, is still a flashy looking mare. Taking the lead early, Nizam's Pet showed the way to her rivals and still held a four length lead going down the far side. McDonald rated his mount in second place until nearing the far turn. Then setting him down for the challenge, the Stern fencer, also a better than average performer at one time, gradually wore the mare down. Getting to within a length at the final jump, Greek Brother proved gamest in the stretch and won by a neck. Five and a half lengths back, Cool Warrior proved best of the others to be third, with Negocio, a strong factor until rounding into the homestretch, a well beaten fourth.

The following day, seven horses representing five betting interests went postward in an allowance race over the smaller jumps, and proved to be an interesting race. At the wire, the veteran Scottie Riles prevailed by a head on Mrs. June McKnight's *Palladio. Bob McDonald on Navy Fighter, which held command down the far side and over the final fence, ran one of his better races, and just missed in a furious head and head battle from the last fence to the wire. Jim McConnell's *Langton Breeze, an outstanding performer on the flat, over hurdles and brush during the past several years was third after making the pace for half the journey, but he pulled up lame, and it later developed that tendon trouble made this his last race for the year.

Among the also rans were A. C. Bostwick's *Caldold, a well-thought of French import which won his second start here over hurdles in July. Making his first start since then he was ridden by Paddy Smithwick and ran coupled with the eventual winner.

Receiving what appeared to be less than a vigorous ride, *Caldold finished fifth to December, and a length in front of Turpitude which showed little at any time during the running. John M. Schiff's recent three-year-old French import, *Juventus was seventh after being in trouble several times.

Rose Tree Races

Chris Wood, Jr.

Operating for the first time under the guidance of F. Eugene Dixon, Jr., recently-appointed chairman of the race committee, the Rose Tree Fox Hunting Club held its 101st consecutive fall hunt race meeting on the club property near Media, Pa. Summer-like weather prevailed on Saturday, Oct. 15, and some 5,000 overflowed the grandstand and box area to witness an excellent day of racing. Although the fields were riddled with scratches, the contests were thrilling, with close finishes the order of the day.

The day of sport boasted an international flair, with foreign-bred horses winning all of the races, except the Rose Tree Hunter Challenge Cup. In this grueling test, Full Stop, owned by Mrs. William D. Hall, Nashville, Tenn., upheld the U. S. standard and registered his 3rd straight success on the autumn hunt racing circuit.

Only 4 accepted the issue in the 3-mile test over a scheduled 22 timber fences and this was rapidly reduced to 3 when George T. Weymouth's Ferris Burg fell over the 3rd obstacle sending Nick Griggs to the hospital for observation of a slight concussion.

With only a trio remaining, Mrs. Wilfred Wood's Latin Lancer, under Louis

Neilson III, moved to the front, with the eventual winner and Paul C. Baldwin's Fairplex following as named. With Nick Griggs supine on the ground and a crowd gathering in back of the 10th obstacle, the small field was waved away from this fence. The order of running remained the same until they negotiated the 12th, where rider-trainer H. C. (Jiggs) Baldwin III, moved Full Stop into the leading position.

The eventual winner held a 3-length lead until approaching the 21st and final fence, where Latin Lancer again challenged. Landing over the fence with a 3/4's of a length advantage, Full Stop responded and drew away to win by 3 lengths. Latin Lancer held the place position safe, 8 lengths in the van of Fairplex.

After referring to the rules regarding a missed fence, the Stewards ruled the finish official and the time of 6:23 was posted for Full Stop's efforts over firm turf. Having won in the spring for Elkins Wetherill, his former owner, Full Stop chalked up his 4th victory of the year.

Foxcatcher Plate

Only a trio of 'chasers came out for the Foxcatcher Plate, a 2-mile handicap over the brush course. Despite the diminutive field the race turned out to be the most thrilling on the program, with Miss Mary A. Rumsey's *Romeo gaining a nose decision over Thaddeus R. Trout's *Chicago II, winner of the race in 1959, a scant head in front of George T. Weymouth's Mystical Gem.

The latter, under A. P. (Paddy) Smithwick, set all of the pace with *Chicago II running 2nd and the eventual winner 3rd. Responding to Edwin Deveau in the final yards in the uphill run to the wire, *Romeo showed a sudden burst of speed and reached the embattled *Chicago II and Mystical Gem just before the wire.

Unsuccessful in previous outings this season, the French-bred 'chaser covered the 2 miles and 12 brush fences in 3:39. An eligible for the $50,000 added Temple Gwathmey Steeplechase Handicap to be contested during the United Hunts Racing Association's meeting at Belmont Park, the winner picked up a 5 pound penalty over his assigned 130 for the world's richest steeplechase. The winner is trained by C. V. B. Cushman, Jr., who has been highly successful with Miss Rumsey's Close Array on the flat this year.

As usual the Rose Tree program opened with the Agricultural Stakes and Thomas Glennon's *Porthos II became the 1st of the invaders to score. Gaining command soon after the break in the very short "6-furlong" turf test, *Porthos II lasted under James Pursley to win by a 1/2 length over P. J. Manuel's True Gauge. The latter just saved the place award by a scant head over J. M. Davis' Blue Bar. The winner was timed in 1:08.

*Petrified II Wins

A field of 4 non-winners over brush appeared for the W. Plunket Stewart Memorial Challenge Cup and 2 of the small field managed to complete the course. Running off the course on approaching the 1st of 12 brush fences in the 2-mile chase, C. Mahlon Kline's Gowran left the race wide open for the trio of contenders.

The Windmill Farm's Prince Nam, under Paddy Smithwick, set the early pace, with Mrs. F. Eugene Dixon, Jr.'s *Petrified II and the North Hill Farms' Welstead following as named. At the half-way mark, *Petrified II, under Lester Graham, moved to the front with a precarious advantage, as he ran down all of his fences, jumping them on the left.

The race turned into a 2-horse event when Welstead came down over the 9th jump without any visible injury to apprentice James Wyatt. Although he fenced in a most erratic manner, *Petrified II managed to hold his advantage and win by 8 lengths. Finishing 2nd and last, Prince Nam broke down during the running and was quickly dismounted soon after he crossed under the wire. A winner over hurdles at Aqueduct for his former owner, Mrs. M. G. Walsh, the Irish-bred chaser won his brush graduation in the time of 3:39.

Bred by H. M. Queen Elizabeth in England, *Narcissus II registered his 1st victory of the year for Mrs. June H. McKnight. Permitting Mrs. William Coxé Wright's *Ben Arthur to set the early pace under Edwin Deveau, Paddy Smithwick moved the eventual winner to the front in the uphill stretch run to win the Riddle Cup by a length. *Ben Arthur held the place award safe, 5 1/2 lengths in front of his stablemate, Big Gusher, and Marshall Fields, Jr.'s Handy. The latter pair dead-heated for 3rd in the 1-mile race over the turf, which was run in 1:47 1/5.

The Autumn Stayers' Plate, a 1 1/2 miles turf race which closed the pleasant day of sport brought out an even half-dozen contenders. Taking the lead at the break of the route race, C. Mahlon Kline's *Galley Hill made every step a winning one to defeat Mrs. George E. Tener's Astrology by 2 1/2 lengths. Thaddeus R. Trout's *Lionhearted, winner of the 1959 running of the Autumn Stayers' Plate, was 3rd, a length off the place horse.

A winner of a turf race during the Fair Hill, Md., meeting in September, the Irish-bred *Galley Hill was ridden by Lester Graham and was timed over the route in 2:38. The victory made it 3 at the one-day meeting for horses bred on the "Auld Sod".

About Steeplechasing

It is expected that Delaware Park will shortly announce a resumption of steeplechase and hurdle racing for the 1961 meeting at the Stanton course.

Major track steeplechasing next year will begin sometime during the Aqueduct meeting in May.

F. Eugene Dixon, newly appointed Chairman of the Rose Tree races will make some changes prior to next year's meetings.

John M. Schiff's good three-year-old, Our Jeep, is a probable starter in the L. E. Stoddard, Jr. at the United Hunts Meeting. A winner of six of his eight hurdle starts this year, victory in the Stoddard could go a long way toward making him "Jumper of the Year", an honor never before given to a three-year-old hurdler.

Rolling Rock Hunt Races

(Second Day)

Chris Wood, Jr.

Featuring the 24th running of the International Gold Cup, hunt racing's most lucrative event with a purse of $7,500 added, the Rolling Rock Hunt Racing Association concluded their annual two-day session on Saturday, October 8. With perfect weather prevailing, some 18,000 lined the hillsides of the Rolling Rock Club at Ligonier, Pa., and enhanced the coffers of the Home for Crippled Children in Pittsburgh, beneficiary of the gala race meeting.

Five Starters

Although a worthy piece of lucre awaited the winner of the 2 1/2 miles steeplechase handicap, only 5 accepted the issue in a wide-open race. Bad luck befell the event with the announced withdrawal of Major General Richard K. Mellon's *Venetian Glass, winner of the 1959 renewal, and the Grandview Stable's *Kandy-Sugar, winner of the Rolling Rock Hunt Cup on the preceding Wednesday. The latter, small horse for brush racing, had corded up following his triumph and was unable to go postward. *Venetian Glass, came up with a suspicious tendon and was declared by trainer Sidney Watters, Jr.

With the favored pair out of the lineup it became anyone's race and at the conclusion of the race the "anyone" turned out to be Mrs. June H. McKnight's *Chufquen, an invader from Chile. Ably handled by A. P. (Paddy) Smithwick, who rode *Kandy-Sugar to win on Wednesday, the 8-year-old gelding registered an easy triumph when his challenger, Charles W. Stitzer's Rythmn Master, unseated jockey Thomas Walsh over the 16th and final fence.

In the early stages of the race, Miss Jane Flaccus' Bold Visitor set the pace, only to tire and fall over the 7th obstacle. Following this mishap, the Barclay Stable's *Ballybrittas led over the 8th jump, with the eventual winner in close attendance. Responding to Smithwick after the 9th, the Chilean moved to the fore and held command for the balance of the journey to win by 5 lengths. Receiving a rousing ride from Walsh in the final stages, Rythmn Master passed *Ballybrittas in the uphill run to the final fence and cleared the obstacle about 3 lengths off *Chufquen. Upon landing, the gelding bounced Walsh from the saddle and the rider landed on the turf in a walk-away manner without even stumbling.

With the Stitzer color-bearer out of the race, *Ballybrittas gained 2nd money, 6 lengths in advance of Miss Mary Rumsey's *Romeo, the only other starter to complete the course. With the winner bred in Chile, the place horse in Ireland and the show contender from France, the International Gold Cup did not belie its name.

In negotiating the course in 5:09 2/5, Mrs. McKnight's *Chaser picked up a net sum of $5,375 from the gross purse of $8,675 to score his most important victory in this country. A steeplechase winner in Chile, the gelding was imported by W. C. Partee on the advice of Belmont Evans. Unsuccessful in the silks of the Oklahoma sportsman, the gelding was sent to a public venue and obtained by Mrs. McKnight.

Penna. Hunt Cup

The secondary attraction on the five-race program, the annual renewal of the Pennsylvania Hunt Cup brought out a field of 7 timber-toppers and all of the starters completed the 3-mile trip over 18 post-and-rail fences.

Improving with each start, Mrs. William D. Hail's Full Stop made it two-straight at Rolling Rock to register a 10-length decision over Miss Marilyn Reid's *Ben Cover. Ridden and trained by James Hruska, the latter set the pace over 13 fences under a light package of 147 pounds. Responding to rider-trainer H. C. (Jiggs) Baldwin, III, in the final stages, Full Stop assumed command over the 14th and drew away for the balance of the journey. Paul C. Baldwin's Fairplex just lasted to gain 3rd money, 12 lengths in the wake of *Ben Cover and a scant head in front of George L. Ohrstrom, Jr.'s *Fast. Making his first start since the spring of 1958, the latter closed well under rider-trainer Daniel Marzani.

In chalking up his 3rd triumph of the year and his 2nd in the silks of the Nashville, Tenn. owner, Full Stop covered the grueling course in 6:04 and earned a net of $635.

The Baywood, a 1 3/4 miles hurdle race for maidens opened the program and at the conclusion of the event, the Coventry Rock Stable's *Sir Patsy graduated from the ranks. Ridden by James Murphy, the eventual winner gained command from Mrs. R. K. Mellon's *Lime Cordial over the 6th hurdle in the flight of 10 and drew away to score by 12 lengths. Showing great improvement in his 2nd start over hurdles, Randolph D. Rouse's Mush On closed well to be 2nd, 1 1/2 lengths in front of the tiring *Lime Cordial. Bred in Ireland by Cyril Hardy, the winner was timed in 3:55 to chalk up his initial victory over hurdles and his 2nd in this country. Making a debut at Richmond, Va., this past spring the invader accounted for a turf race.

Having captured a hurdle race on Wednesday, Mrs. Cordelia Sciafe May's December made it 2 straight at the meeting by winning the Laughlinton, a 2-mile hurdle test. Closing well in the late stages, the gray gelding defeated the veteran Caste by 1 1/2 lengths. Best of the balance in the field of 6, Caste had a 4-length advantage over Thaddeus R. Trout's *Chicago 2nd at the conclusion. The victory gave jockey James Murphy and trainer Sidney Watters, Jr. a double for the day, following *Sir Patsy's triumph. It also moved December up in the United Hunts Racing Association's hurdle division awards to lead the division with a total of 11 points. The winner was timed in 3:58 2/5.

NEW JERSEY

N. J. BLOODSTOCK SHOW

The Third Annual Bloodstock Show, sponsored by The Thoroughbred Horse Breeders' Association of New Jersey, proved most successful, both in quality and number of entries and in the good attendance of horse enthusiasts who braved a blazing sun to see the exhibition. Of the 53 original entries, only five were scratched, giving the judges, Mr. and Mrs. David Odell of Skirmish Hill, West Chester, Pa., a full field of mares and foals to scrutinize.

Class 1, for Broodmares, offering the William G. Helis Memorial Trophy, was won for the second successive year by Mr. and Mrs. Milton Erlanger of Woodside Stable, Oakhurst. The winning mare was Scarlet Tanager, a five-year-old mare by Double Jay out of Red Sky, by Sky Raider. Scarlet Tanager, who has a chestnut foal by Intent, is in foal to *Rasper II, who stands at Woodside Stable. Second honors in this class went to Ruff Acres Farm's Girl Crazy, an eight-year-old daughter of Blue Swords out of Say Gal, by Count Gallahad. She had a brown colt by *Roistar this year and is back in foal to that son of Arctic Star who stands at the Colt's Neck Nursery.

Third place in the broodmare class was won by the Helis Stock Farm's Twisted Trail, a 12-year-old daughter of *Bull Dog-Spiral Pass, by *Pharamond II. She is in foal to Helioscope. Fourth place went to J. E. McAuliffe's six-year-old Questa Prima, by Prince Quest out of Gypsy Lady. This mare had a bay filly by War Age this year and is in foal to McClellan.

In Class 2, for Foals of 1960, for which the Bernadotte Farm Trophy is awarded for one-year custody, J. E. McAuliffe's March 31 colt by Needles out of Lodestone, by Johns Joy, was named champion. Runner-up was Mrs. James Purdey's bay filly by Ace Admiral out of Near Home, by Ruston Sirdar. Third honors went to the Helis Stock Farm's bay filly by Spartan Valor out of Drifting Maid, by Valdina Orphan. Fourth place was awarded to Dr. Russell N. Carrier's bay colt by Bimelech out of Penny Bouquet, by Blue Larkspur.

New Jersey Department of Agriculture breeders' awards totalling $500, were distributed among the four finalists in each class by William C. Lynn, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture for the State of New Jersey. The THBA of NJ presented silver trophies and ribbons to the finalists in each class. Colonel C. F. Fiore of Margate Farm, Eatontown, presided as Ringmaster for the day's proceedings. The grounds at Wolf Hill Farm were used through the courtesy of The Monmouth Park Jockey Club. (Breeders' Digest)

FROM ABROAD

PETITE ETOILE RETIRED

Petite Etoile (Petition-Star of Iran), who the late Prince Aly Khan considered the greatest filly which he and his father ever bred, has been retired to stud, having contracted the epidemic of coughing which has recently so plagued British race tracks. Now a 4-year-old she last year won the Oaks, the 1,000 Guineas and the Champion Stakes and beat Parthia in the Coronation Cup at Epsom last June. Her only defeat was at the hands of Aggressor in the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes at Ascot in July.

GERMAN YEARLING SALES

At the annual Cologne Yearling Sales business showed an upward trend compared to the corresponding sale last year, 50 lots being sold for a total of 342,900 DMarks (29,560 gs), an average of nearly 6,860 DMarks (591 gs).

Twelve months ago only 30 lots changed hands for 198,700 DMarks (17,128 gs), an average of 6,623 DMarks (570 gs).

Top price of 23,000 DMarks (1983 gs) was realised by H. E. Eversfield, a businessman with branch offices in London and Frankfurt, who bred the chestnut colt Lord Stan. He is from the second crop of the promising sire Stani (Nuvulari-Stammesart by Alchimist), winner of Grosser Preis von Baden, Grosser Preis von Hessen (twice), Grosser Preis von Frankfurt, Prix Fernand du Roy Blicquy and Grand Prix de l'Association, the last two in Belgium, third in Premio del Jockey Club to Ribot and Norman. His dam Lili Marlen produced several successful stallions and steeplechasers and is by Thor out of Quasr Shirin, own sister to the Prince of Wales Stakes winner Taj Akbar and halfsister to the Irish derbywinner Nathoo.

From the six weanlings, bought at last year's Newmarket December Sales, Marlborough (Combat out of Mary Clare by Migoli) fetched 21,000 DMarks (1810 gs), the successful bidder being Asta Stud. Toettgen Stud paid 19,000 DMarks (1638 gs) for the filly Sheffield (Black Tarquin out of Sol d'Or by Solario). She has Fair Simone as her third dam, who is a half-sister to Skyglory, the taproot mare of Sheshoon and Charlottesville. Another sold for 19,000 DMarks was the Hard Sauce colt Union Jack out of Urovia by Umidwar.

Movie and television actress Lieselotte Pulver paid 11,000 DMarks (948 gs) for the Fastnet Rock colt Shakespeare. He is out of the Precipitation mare Salvolatle.

In all, the English bred yearlings fetched 84,000 DMarks (7,241 gs), or approx. 1,200 gs each. Ph. Alles

AMERICAN WINNERS IN IRELAND

During the recent meeting at Tramore, Ireland, which lasts a week, no less than six American owners had their horses gallop home in front. These included Travis M. Kerr (Lumiere Rose), John McNamee Sullivan (Moonson), J. L. Young-husband (Miss Lulu), Mrs. James Forrestal (Rising Spring), Mrs. Marie A. Moore (Courbette), and John McShain (Whimsey II).

MRS. OLIN'S DEAUVILLE WIN

Mrs. John Olin, of New York, had a nice win during the recent meeting at Deauville (France) when her filly Fairey Gannet (Fair Trial-Northern Glean, by Borealis) won the Prix Quincey at a mile, winning by half a length from Mme. G. Courtois' Rarissima.

VIRGINIA

FIRST LANDING TO STAND IN VIRGINIA

First Landing has been retired to stud. The bay son of *Turn-to out of the great broodmare Hildene, will make the 1961 season at the farm of his owner, Christopher T. Chenery, The Meadow, Doswell, Va. First Landing was Champion Two-Year-Old of 1958 winning a record $396,460. He suffered from a kidney ailment at three, but this year came back to win the Santa Anita Maturity, the Laurel Maturity and the Monmouth Handicap, beside being second to Sword Dancer in the Suburban and Grey Lag and to Bald Eagle in the Metropolitan. Altogether he earned $779,577. His dam, Hildene, also produced the great race horse and successful sire, Hill Prince, as well as the stakes winners Third Brother, Prince Hill and Mangohick. During 1961 he will be bred to 15 of the Chenery mares while 15 outside services will be available at $5,000.

ACCRA'S FIFTH STAKES WINNER

When Mrs. Marion duPont Scott's 5-year-old Nala recently won the Charles L. Appleton Memorial Steeplechase, he became the fifth stakes winner produced by Mrs. Scott's homebred broodmare Accra (Annapolis-Ladala, by Ladkin). Other stakes winners are Nejl, Mandingo, Nahodah and Songal.

TROPICAL ENDURANCE SERIES

Tropical Park, Coral Gables, Fla., will resume the Sunshine Endurance and the Florida Endurance series scheduled last season. The first is for horses which have raced for a claiming price of $5,000 or less since July 15th, the second for horses which have started for a claiming price of $3,000 or less since that date. Both series include races at distances up to 1 5/8 miles. Stall preferences will be given to horses eligible for the series.

TWO IN ONE AFTERNOON

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following episode sounds more like the feats of 100 years ago when men were men and horses were horses.) Recently at the Wareghem track in Belgium, the 6-year-old French mare Babilah (Babu's Pet-Leilah) stunned the crowd with an unprecedented double success. First, Roger Couetil's mare, with her owner-trainer in the saddle, won the Lys Steeplechase at two miles and a quarter. Then, none the worse for this effort, she started one hour later in the Wareghem Grand Steeplechase at two miles and a half, was kept off the pace for one mile, then moved up, took the lead and drew away to romp home far ahead of the opposition. The public gave an ovation to horse and rider, he exploit being cheered while a vibrant "Marsellaise" was played!

WASHINGTON PARK INCREASES

As compared with last year, the 31-day Washington Park meeting, run this year at Arlington Park, closing on September 5th, showed increases in attendance of 4.4 per cent and in total mutuel handle of 3.6 per cent.

ENGLISH ADOPT OVERNIGHT DECLARATIONS

At a recent meeting of the (British) Jockey Club, the 26 members present unanimously approved a plan for overnight declarations, thus bringing England into line with every other major racing country.

PIGEONS VS. THOROUGHBREDS

According to Danish law no one may gamble on what they do not see. Accordingly anyone betting on a race horse must do so at the track. In consequence Thoroughbred racing faces fierce competition from pigeon racing. The birds are paraded at all the principal centers in Denmark which means that the hundreds of thousands who see them can then go and place a quick bet.

VON BORCKE TRAINS AGAIN

Adrian von Borcke is back again in action as a trainer with Mydlinghoven Stud at Krefeld. After 25 years of service with Erlenhof Stud, for which he trained more than 800 winners including seven Derby winners, Adrian von Borcke was dismissed last year in December. Adrian is an oldtimer at Laurel's Washington D. C. International and had four runners: Niederlander (1952), Ataturk (1955), Nisos (1957) and Horse of the Year Orsini (1958). He will take up duties on January 1st.

TRA RACING FEATURE

Started last year on an experimental basis, the two-column panel feature titled "Off and Running", issued by The Thoroughbred Racing Association, is now distributed to 744 newspapers with circulations totalling over 11,000. The feature, consisting of a weekly article of about 250 words, is written by John R. Day, Director of the TRA Service Bureau for the past 17 years. The artwork is by Joe King and production and distribution is handled by Tom Fanning of Information Materials Press.

IRISH ST. LEGER, 14 FURLONGS

One of the easiest winners ever of an Irish classic was Mrs. E. M. Fawcett's brilliant Oaks winner, Lynchris. Run at the Curragh, September 14, in inclement weather conditions, a large attendance was on hand to witness some excellent racing. Lynchris (Sayajirao-Scollata) a 480 guineas "Ballsbridge bargain" may not have had much to beat, but once the heat was turned on three furlongs out she fairly flew, to win unchallenged by 6 lengths and three, from W. J. McEnery's Our Charger and Mrs. S. B. Caldwell's Avril Sprite. We had the unusual spectacle of rider Williamson looking over his shoulder, almost in contempt, for long periods. Winner started, due to support for the disappointing Hunch, at the lucrative odds of 4 to 6. While she beat nothing of note in this mediocre field, it is my opinion that Lynchris is the best staying three-year-old filly in Europe, at the present time, and I seriously doubt if "wonder filly" Petite Etiole would be able to give her weight-for-age in any race, 12 furlongs or over. However, she does not race again this year. Interested observers included Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards, of Audley Farm, Berryville, Virginia, who took in some Irish racing and viewing as part of a short European tour.

PROVISION FOR PLATERS

At the annual Jockey Club Conference, George D. Widener presided and Marshall Cassidy served as moderator. The panel headed by Frank E. Kilroe and John J. Mooney had up for discussion the following topic: Is it not time to accept the fact that platers occupy a substantial part of every day's racing program and provision should be made for them in proportion to the various other categories of horses?

Kilroe thought: "Platers have plenty of opportunities of necessity." Mooney pointed with some pride to the fact: "We have had 40 per cent non-claiming races at meets in Canada." Irving Gushen estimated: "The $7,500 and $10,000 horses haven't enough opportunity with the maintenance of $50,000 stakes." A. B. Hancock was for doubling platers' evaluation, but James Stewart said it is an artificial value, for at some tracks they run for the minimum purse price and at others drop back arbitrarily.

INDIANS AT THE RACES

A few years back, 1788 to be exact, there appeared in the KENTUCKY GAZETTE an advertisement for a race meeting at Crab Orchard, Kentucky. The advertisement of course told of the various pleasures and excitements to be found at the race meeting. The advertisement also carried the admonition, "It is hoped each person will go well armed, as it is very dangerous on account of the Indians." Race tracks still have their hazards. But the tomahawk and scalping knife are no longer a menace.

ARCARO RE-ELECTED

Eddie Arcaro, president of the Jockeys' Guild since 1949, has been re-elected for an additional term of two years. Sam Boulmetis was re-elected vice-president, Steve Brooks, secretary, and Eric Guerin re-elected treasurer.

CANADIAN WOMAN HORSE TRAINER

Recently The Chronicle has carried a number of reports of various successful female race horse trainers, primarily in the U. S. Well, Canada can boast a goodly number of the distaff brigade who have distinguished themselves in the turf sport, most notable among them being Mrs. D. J. Kennedy of Winnipeg. Mrs. Kennedy, whose husband Dan runs a wholesale dry-goods business and sportswear establishment in the Manitoba city and is also a successful and prominent race horseman, annually tours U. S. and Canadian race tracks during the summer months. The Kennedy's have been in the racing business for over 20 years and Mrs. Kennedy has spent the last 10 years as a successful and full-time trainer. One of her horses, Vital Force, has won a number of important stakes races and has amassed earnings of more than $185,000.

ALMAHURST SOLD

James Camp of Shafter, California, has purchased from the estate of the late Henry H. Knight the major part of the famous Almahurst Farm at Nicholasville, Ky., consisting of 862 acres, and will operate it as a Standardbred nursery. He has been given permission to continue the use of which it was named. In addition to raising Thoroughbreds on the property, Mr. Knight also raised a number of Standardbreds, including the great champion Greyhound.

HYPERION FILLY WINS CHEVELEY PARK

The result of mating when her sire Hyperion was 27, the Aga Khan's French-trained filly Opaline led all the way to win the Cheveley Park Stakes by three lengths from the English filly Kerrabee, this being her third win in as many starts. Unfortunately the two best English-trained fillies, Ambergris and Sweet Solera, were unable to run because they were coughing, and Opaline started an 11-10 favorite in a field of six.

Though trained in France, Opaline is entirely British-bred, being out of the Palestine mare Martine who ran third in the Eclipse Stakes. P.T.C.

EDDIE SCHMIDT

The excellent and courageous runner, Eddie Schmidt, which has run on tracks from coast to coast has a rather unusual record to his credit. He has won stake races at every one of California's six major tracks. No other horse has ever done that. As a matter of fact, no other state has six major tracks.

Eddie Schmidt's is, therefore, a unique performance. More important to his owners though, I'd be willing to bet, is the fact that he has won $501,335.

SARATOGA MEETING

During the 24-day meeting at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. which ended on August 27th, three new records were established. The total mutuel handle was $25,733,329, a daily average of $1,072,222. On August 20th another record was set for a single day when the total amount bet was $1,675,367, while on August 27th a new daily-double pool mark was established with $204,090. Total attendance was also up.

NEW TRA BOARD MEMBERS

Dr. Leon Levy, president of the Atlantic City Racing Association, and E. P. Taylor, president of The Jockey Club of Canada, have been elected members of the board of directors of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations to fill the vacancies caused by the death of John B. Kelly and Benjamin F. Lindheimer.

AGA KHAN BUYS ALY'S HORSES

Acting under the terms of the will of his father, Prince Aly Khan, providing that any member of the family might purchase his horses at an evaluation set by Messrs. Tattersalls of London, His Highness Karim Aga Khan IV has purchased from his father's estate all the horses in his breeding and racing establishments in Europe. Prior to leaving for Pakistan the Aga Khan announced: - "I wish to maintain the family tradition of horse racing and breeding and will be taking definite interest in my racing establishments as from today. The running and organization of stud farms, breeding and racing will be continued as in the past and the system of my late grandfather and father will be maintained by the staff which has worked so devotedly and successfully over the years."

SALES YEARLINGS 1-2-3 IN FUTURITY

The 71st running of the Futurity Stakes at Aqueduct, New York's classic two-year-old race, marked the first time that horses sold at auction as yearlings took the first three places. Little Tumbler, who won, was sold at the 1959 Keeneland summer auction by the Breeders Sales Company. The consignor was T. Owen Campbell and the Royal Note filly was purchased for $10,500 by Meadowbrook Stable. Globe-master, the runner-up, was consigned to the Saratoga sales by James L. Wiley and purchased for $80,000 by Leonard P. Sasso. The $80,000 price was tops for the season. Garwol, third, was sold at the Keeneland summer sales for $32,000. Leslie B. Combs 2d consigned the colt, who was bought by Louis E. Wolfson.

PRESS BOX FILM PATROL

At the recent annual Jockey Club Conference, George D. Widener presided and Marshall Cassidy served as moderator. The panel headed by George C. Hendrie and Bill Lauder had up for discussion the following topic: Should not the film patrol pictures be televised to the press box at all tracks as is done in New York?

Cassidy thought all tracks should do this. Lauder was strong for it. And Field said: "Through the years Delaware Park has had good success following New York's lead and I feel we should again." Sol Rosen added: "These film reviews are helpful to chart callers. They give them an opportunity to comment in interference when writing their footnotes, thus making them more complete." Lauder concurred, citing the importance of the charts."

HUNTING

Los Altos Hunting Pace Event

Each year the Los Altos Hunting Pace Event draws a greater entry and has become one of the most popular events with members young and old alike.

This year the event was held on Sept. 18th during the cubbing season, serving as a trial for new members and young riders to give them an idea of the feel of hunting. The 4 Mile course was planned over rolling terrain typical of the Woodside country and offered all types of going, calling for judgement in the use of mount every foot of the way. Numerous places called for trotting, walking, and opening of gates. The course was arranged so that it could be ridden by those experienced in negotiating obstacles as well as novices. There was a "way around" each obstacle in order that as many hunt members could participate as possible. Hon. Whipper-in George Payne planned and marked the course and road guides were provided by the Los Altos Hunt Pony Club as well as interested parents. Two check points enroute afforded some degree of pace control as well as a pause for refreshment. The course was pre-ridden by Jt. Master W. W. Mein Jr. and Mrs. W. A. Swinerton whose times were averaged (and kept secret) to determine the winning time. Twenty seven pairs of riders took to the course at 5 minute intervals with winners closest to the perfect time as follows:

1. Antonin Vacek, Jimmy Kohn, 23:08;

2. Hon. Whipper-in Tom Harris, Libby Harris, 24:04; 3. Jt. Master Marie Davies, Mrs. John Bates, 24:05; 4. Susan Swinerton, Diana Hyde, 23:01; 5. Bill Bradley, Victoria Fay, 24:09.

The Hunt Staff hosted refreshments at the new Woodside home of Hon. Whipper-in & Mrs. Tom Harris and all forecast a highly successful season. Fieldmaster

Gilbert Mather, M. F. H. Brandywine Hounds

Tano Neville

Soon after Gilbert Mather's death last year, you wrote an editorial about him and his efforts toward improving foxhunting's relations with the public. Now that his friends and neighbors have had a few months to adjust to his passing, perhaps you will allow one of them to continue the discussion and fill in some of the details.

With Gilbert Mather, it was foxhunting first and the rest nowhere. All he ever wanted to do was go out with hounds, whether it was walking them in summer, helping them when they were drawing or trying to stay up with them when they ran. He performed the other duties of an M.F.H. punctiliously and with signal success, but almost reluctantly. He called on new landowners, tried to make the hostile ones see the light, put in an appearance at the local point-to-point to act as starter, arrived at the horse show in time to present a prize. But he seemed to do them with only half his attention, as a necessary chore which he had to perform because it made it possible for him to pursue the real business of life which was foxhunting.

As a further effort to improve foxhunting's relations with the public, he developed The Speech. Many of your readers have doubtless heard it. Starting with a condensed history of American foxhunting, it went on to describe a typical hunt: the long draw, the find, the first check, the marking to ground. As he became involved in his story he would whip out his horn and blast you from your seat by blowing the various calls. It was a wonderful experience and his listeners always came away with a new and more knowledgeable outlook on the sport.

He would travel anywhere in the East to give The Speech. Nothing was too much trouble, if it helped educate public opinion. He gave it at colleges, lunch clubs, historical societies; he gave it at the old folks' home in West Chester. They tell me that those old ladies had not had such an evening since their first party 70 years before.

But always, behind the charming, exquisitely courteous facade, one sensed that he wished we would leave him alone so that he could concentrate on his hounds. He had only one real interest, one real pleasure - the Brandywine Hounds.

It was when he was with hounds that he was entirely himself, a completely happy man. He loved his hounds, recognized their virtues, and forgave them their faults. It was painful to him to have to rate them and he rarely did so. He got results by getting their affection. He not only knew each hound in the pack, but even remembered the name, markings and characteristics of every single hound he had ever owned. They were his joy and as a natural consequence of the sympathy between him and the pack, hunting for him was a joyous event. The notes he blew on his horn were cheerful. His voice had a happy quality when he called to them. When Gilbert Mather "cheered" his hounds he gave the word its full meaning; he cheered hounds, horses and riders, too. His "find" cheer had a way of tailing off into a laugh so that we started a run in high good humor. Not for him those soul-in-torment screams that tear apart the stillness of Chester County coverts. He was out enjoying the greatest delight he knew and his voice betrayed his pleasure. He sang to his hounds in the same cheerful tones that he used for songs such as "Blue Tail Fly". (He had, by the way, a seemingly endless repertory of hunting songs. Many a party was made memorable because he was prevailed upon to sing them.)

We not only had the privilege of hunting behind his hounds, but we also had the pleasure of watching Gilbert Mather enjoy himself. Many is the time I heard people at the meet say: "Hope he has a fox today", instead of "Hope we have a fox today."

He was a hound man, pure and simple. He did not have that same interest in horses. He rode magnificently right up to the end of his last season, won races as a young man, including the Maryland Hunt Cup, but seemingly only because it was expected of him. Races, in fact, competitive sports of any kind, were not his dish of tea. He used horses as conveyances, expected the impossible from them and got it. Years ago I saw him push his horse along a narrow strip of land with a ditch on one side, a post and rail fence on the other with barbed wire strung along the tops of the posts; on the other side of the fence another ditch. Hounds picked up the line and went away from him along Sally Young's Bottom, a narrow hollow in our country with a provocative name. Gilbert watched them for a second or two and then prepared to follow. He turned his horse toward the fence and its hind legs promptly went into the ditch. Gilbert looked around vaguely as though wondering why the horse was having trouble, saw it was down in the ditch in the back and that its chest was almost up against the fence in front. Instead of looking for a jumpable place, he impatiently started the same maneuver all over again; pulled his horse back onto the strip, sideways to the fence, took a deep breath, twisted the horse around and lifted it over the fence, over the wire, and over the next ditch and galloped on without even turning around to wave goodbye!

He often did not know which horse he was on. For those of us who savored the full flavor of our beloved Master, there was a special treat at the end of a run when he dismounted to cheer hounds at an earth. When it came time to remount, he would look around wryly, obviously unable to recognize his horse. Was it that grey? No, it must be the chestnut. No....finally a grinning member of the Field would lead forward the right horse and put an end to his bewilderment.

He was not a theorizer, he was a man who went ahead and acted. To my knowledge, he never explained himself to anyone, but the things he did form a revealing pattern.

Let me list a few of the things that happened after he took over 30 years ago: He changed from English hounds to American. He became his own Huntsman. He rarely invited groups of strangers to hunt with him. He never (with one exception) would countenance a Joint Meet. He tolerated and saw the virtue in having other packs in the Brandywine country, because they drew off many followers, thus making for smaller Fields for all. He sent fixture cards to every single person who owned land in his country, or who showed the slightest interest in coming out on horseback, on foot, or in an automobile.

Gilbert Mather supported Brandywine Hounds entirely at his own expense. He did so, not because he could easily afford

MILLER'S NEW ZEALAND RUG

THE ONLY HORSE BLANKET THAT ALWAYS STAYS IN PLACE

No. 378—NEW ZEALAND RUG: We introduced these last fall—they were a complete "sellout". Made in England, these are the greatest all purpose horse blankets made. It will stay in place on a horse even after a night in the stall or turned out in the field. Made of heavy green scrubable canvas chemically treated to make it waterproof and mildew resistant. Wool lined to make it one of the warmest blankets ever.

Note the removable leg straps that fasten around hind legs to keep blanket from shifting and turning and to prevent its being ripped by the horse. Leather reinforcement at neck. The leather strap at breast as well as the leg straps and surcingle billet are of waterproof chrome leather that will never harden. The entire blanket is beautifully constructed, shaped and reinforced at all points of strain. Your "New Zealand Rug" will prove a great economy as the years go by. Parcel post weight 8½ lbs.

it, and in spite of offers from other men of means to share the expense, but quite simply because he didn't want anybody—repeat, anybody—telling him how to hunt his hounds. He was absolutely convinced his way was right for his (Brandywine) country and made sure that there would be no interference, not even discussion.

So, having first assured himself a free hand, Gilbert Mather invented, or perhaps a better word is rediscovered, the kind of sport that suited him in his particular country. In doing so, he went counter to what he had grown up with. Somewhere along the line, while he hunted with his father, he had decided his father's way was not for him. Somehow, he found out that the fellow who went out with hounds to see whether he could start a fox and then, if fate were kind, followed the line as quickly and closely as scent permitted, was having the kind of sport he wanted to have. He became a purist....a Huntsman who would suffer no artificialities to spoil the sport of hunting, he set to work establishing good relations with the country.

He recognized that the two major points of friction between the Hunt and the local inhabitants were, first, big Fields and secondly, Fields composed of outsiders, strangers, "people from out of town." He attacked both problems by limiting the sport, as far as possible, to local landowners, regardless of social or financial standing. If you lived there, he wanted you. If you didn't live there, it was more difficult to become a regular follower unless you were an old friend. And even the old friends usually turned out to have been residents at some time in the past.

He also attacked the problem of unwieldy Fields by maintaining the friendliest relations with other packs of hounds in his country. There are now at least five other packs flourishing in the area, each drawing its own group of followers. The consequence is that, for Brandywine Hounds, Saturday Fields of 35 are the of American foxhunting as he saw it.

He never knowingly participated in a drop hunt. He would not even listen to discussion of one. He bred the kind of foxhound who would turn with a line on poor scenting days instead of over-running it by a quarter of a mile. He wanted hounds with plenty of cry and never failed to call attention to the pack when some 20 couple came boiling out of covert sounding like the Philadelphia Orchestra in full spate. He went out with the intention of hunting foxes and not primarily to give people a race across country. He figured that the draw was an integral part of the true sport. By never losing patience or permitting his enthusiasm to flag, he taught us by example that a long walk through the lovely Brandywine country without picking up a fox was an interesting demonstration of hound work and not a major disaster. As he instituted his own style average and week day Fields range between 5 and 15. And this only 30 miles from Philadelphia!

Of course, I do not want to stretch your credulity too far, but that was the ideal toward which he worked for 30 years and almost attained. To many farmers, unless they happen to be "sporting" farmers, the sight of a troop of horsemen charging across their land is irritating. If the group is composed of strangers wearing pink coats the irritation becomes intolerable. Gilbert Mather himself wore brown. He did not encourage the wearing of the pink by others, and he kept the group small. He worked unremittingly to ensure that "strangers" were only a small minority. As he and his hounds went across country, he projected the image (if I may use this currently popular expres-

Quentin

Little Sombrero presented his owner, Miss Wendy Wanamaker, with his third championship since she acquired him in mid-June, when he won the Working Hunter title at the Quentin Riding Club Horse Show. The neat bay gelding scored an overwhelming victory, earning 25 points as compared to 10 acquired by the reserve champion, Edgewood, ridden by Mrs. Edward J. Kelly Jr., for owner Mrs. Raymond C. Herbert. Little Sombrero bids fair to equal the record of his famous namesake, Sombrero, owned by Mrs. Don Ferrero, and ridden some years ago to countless championships by Mrs. Kenneth Winchell, then Peggy Mills. When the Winchells bought a bay weanling colt nine years ago, they named him Little Sombrero, and started him out on his now excellent career.

Mrs. Kelly captured the green working hunter title with her new young gelding, Moonlight Gambler, who collected 13 points. The reserve title required a hack-off between The Dragon, owned by Ellery Grove, ridden by Gardner Hallman, and Mr. and Mrs. William LeRoy's Honeymoon Dancer, each of whom had earned 8 points. The judges' nod went to The Dragon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shuman's Irish Warrior, with Milton Kulp aboard, nabbed the Conformation tricolor with 20 points. Irish Warrior "came home" to win the title, for he had lived most of his life in the stables of Irl A. Daffin, less than 15 miles away, until he was sold early this year.

Johnny Lorenz and Countryside Lane, from Briarwood Farm, had it all their own way in the open jumper division, ending up with 20 points. Most of Countryside Lane's victories were won with faultless performances. Reserve champion was Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Hallman's stalwart Red Knight, who still catapults out the gate as though launched at Cape Canaveral. Ridden by Mrs. Hallman, this handful of a horse earned 13 points.

Two teenagers succeeded in defeating a big field of pros and experienced amateurs in the Green Jumper division. These were Charles Wood, nineteen, riding his Stock Exchange to the top spot with 15 points, and Tommy Sunday, sixteen, piloting his Red Boy to the reserve spot with 13 points.

There was not as much programmed for young riders as there might have been - there was no junior hunter division, but two pony divisions. Norman Gerstenfeld and Thunder Bird earned the large pony championship, 12 points, and Covert Boy, owned and ridden by Hilda Thomas, was reserve, 11 points.

There was a tie in the small pony championship between Waverly Farm's Johnny Cake, ridden by Beaver Tate, and Captain Midnight, owned by Sterling School of Equitation, shown by Lance Smith. Both had 10 points. Oddly enough, Johnny Cake, who did not place at all in the Under Saddle class, won the hack-off for the title.

Graham Ranch Three-Phase Trial

Marie Sharpe of Calgary and her veteran campaigner Bittersweet, combined to post the best score in the open class of the Graham Ranch 3-phase trial held just south of the Millarville race-track. To Miss Sharpe went the Ellard Trophy for successfully negotiating all three phases of the meet. The trophy was presented by Mrs. Ray (Marge) Ellard. Second best showing of the day was posted by Joan Irving (a previous winner of the event this year) on her talented all-round performer Idaho. Third place went to Michell Kaplan on Betlen (owned by Edith Rodie). An unexpected and pleasant surprise of the afternoon was the polished riding performance of the green-class winner, Roger Fuller of Okotoks. Roger is only 12 years old, but showed a great deal of equestrian know-how.

The show, an abbreviated version of the 3-day Olympic tests, was sponsored by the Calgary 3-phase committee and has

Fort Wayne Charity

The Twenty-ninth Annual Charity Horse Show was again held amidst the beautiful settings of Covington Manor, Mr. and Mrs. John Berghoff's estate. One of the features of this show is its beautiful and exacting outside hunter course which simulates actual hunting country and fences. The course is set in a large valley and all of the spectators have a excellent view of the whole course. The hilly nature of the valley leaves no doubt in this correspondent's mind that it is a real test of a hunter's manners and jumping ability.

George Carter's Milwaukee Hunt Club

really were on the beam as they completely dominated the several hunter classes on both inside and outside courses. Mr. Carter really deserves a pat on the back for the tremendous job he has done with the Milwaukee riders in the past ten years.

As the show closed on Sunday you could not help but feel some remorse because this is one of the few shows in this area that is all fun and sport. The Watchman

St. John's

Excellent sportsmanship, judging, and hospitality were the highlights of the second annual St. John's Horse Show at Clarence Nagro's Hilltop Stable. An independent show sponsored by the Episcopal Church of St. John on the Mountain, Bernardsville, it was characterized also by generous parish participation, topped by the debut of the Rector, the Rev. John D. Wing, Jr., as announcer.

The most coveted awards of the day were the A.T.H. Memorial Award for Sportsmanship-Horsemanship, and the Sportsmanship-Junior Groom Award for a child under 14, not riding, entered as "Official Helper" to a friend. Both were judged by two unidentified persons watching the entrants throughout the day. No fee was required to qualify for these awards. Winner of the A.T.H. Memorial Award was Miss Faith Allen of Berkeley Heights. Her name will be inscribed on a plaque in the church and she received a gold medal commemorating the event. Miss Allen also went home with the Small Pony Championship. Miss Erminie Lane, official helper to Sally and Muffin Lord, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Lord of Little Silver, won the Sportsmanship-Junior Groom Award. Mr. Wing made the presentations. Mrs. A. J. Grunow

Cooper Hospital

What's Jimmy Durante really like? Well, he's like that all the time, "doin' what comes natcherly," we concluded after a close-up glimpse of him at the Cooper Hospital Horse Show, Camden, where he was a special guest. Miss America of 1961, lovely Nancy Anne Fleming of Michigan, also was a special guest. Miss America was prettier, but Jimmy was funnier. He obligingly turned his famous profile complete with cigar to camera men and girls, signed autographs, refused to doff his Homburg hat - "nobody would know me if I took it off," and pressed noses with the five-gaited saddle horse to whom he presented the trophy, saying he wanted to see who had the longest nose. To his chagrin, the judges decided the horse won by a nose. The gravel-voiced comedian told the assembled throng that when he learned he was to be a guest, he thought he ought to have some practice first, so he was told that "when the horse goes up, I go down; when the horse goes down, I go up, but one time when I came down the horse wasn't there." Jimmy placed a dollar bet on the class - and lost, (But he wuz robbed, in our estimation.) They practically had to drag him away from ringside, he had such a good time, and the same could be said for those who had the enjoyment of sharing those few hilarious minutes with him in the officials stand. ## McLean

I am very sad to say that the McLean Horse Show has once again come and gone. But I'm not the least bit sad to relate that the 1960 show was the most successful, both exhibitor and spectator-wise, that the event has ever experienced, which just goes to show that a fine reputation, plus excellent advertising and a little something extra, will bring those much needed on-lookers.

The little something extra in this case was Harry DeLeyer who had come down from Long Island with his famed jumper, Snowman, to put on two special exhibitions. The friendship between these two is a joy to behold and I daresay they loved performing as much as the people loved watching them.

WATJEN DRESSAGE PUPILS

Working with Richard A. Watjen at Sunnyfield Farm, Bedford Village, N. Y., at this time in dressage are, besides Karen McIntosh, a number of young riders whose names are well known in equestrian circles. Michael Page, Gold Medal winner of the Pan-American Games and a member of the U.S. Three-Day Olympic Team, who finished in Rome 17th among 73 starters, is one of them. Others are Denis Glaccum, formerly of the Junior Essex Troop in New Jersey and more recently a participant in the Olympic Trials at Pebble Beach, California, in June, who also has been successful in horse trials in the East; Beryl Sexton, who has made a name for herself in Combined Training Events along the eastern seacoast; and Ann Durland, who is an up-and-coming young equestrian from Ithaca, N. Y. Lana duPont of Wilmington, Delaware, has been at Sunnyfield on and off, working with Mr. Watjen to improve the dressage performances of her horses for Combined Training Events in which she has participated very successfully during the last few years. Michael Mikelsen, another Watjen pupil, has gone to Germany where he will work under Paul Stecken at the Westfalia Riding and Driving School, Muenster (Westfalia) to broaden his experience especially in 3-day event riding.

Gilbert Mather

sion) of a professional foxhunter at work - no frills, no condescension, no spurious heartiness in his greeting to bystanders. He was, quite unaffectedly, himself. People understood his attitude and liked it. Off-hand, I can think of only three places where his hounds were not welcome. Considering the large size of the Brandywine country and the rapid changes that building expansion is bringing, that seems to me a miracle.

Since Gilbert Mather's death, the support for the Hunt has been put to a sudden and unprecedented test. It became necessary to ask for money to continue the Hunt on the same basis. A committee was formed, a letter was written, one man in particular threw himself into the job of seeing almost every follower in person - and the money was raised within a month.

Gilbert Mather worked out a system for his hunting country that became more successful the longer it continued. There may be a pattern in what he did which other hunts with somewhat similar conditions may find useful.

West Tennessee Local Rally

This summer the West Tennessee Pony Club has been active with weekly meetings, shows, and the Regional Rally. The summer fun was completed August 27, with a local rally, similar to a regional. It was held in Germantown at Anderson Evergreen Nursery, the home of the Oliver Andersons.

The Rally was made up of "D" and "C" divisions. Previous plans had been to ride in teams of three, but due to many unexpected circumstances, such as lame horses and sick riders, the competition was held individually.

The events began at 8:30 A.M. with "C" dressage, judged by three local riders, Sandy Hart, Dineta McCormick, and Alice Newbern. The same judges judged the "D" dressage which followed.

The cross-country event, where scores ranged from 14 to 97, seemed to be the main determinate in the final placings. Mr. Anderson was in charge of both courses, and did an excellent job of building jumps. The 1 3/4 mile "C" course consisted of 18 jumps about three feet high. The 1 1/4 mile "D" course had 14 jumps not over two feet in height. Both courses ended by going through a corner of a lake about three feet deep. This was a task for small riders with small ponies, but most of them were successful in getting through.

Unlike a Regional Rally, there were no eliminations in the Rally. This was because most of our riders were participating in a rally for the first time, and it was felt they would gain more from the Rally simply by having points deducted. 30 points were taken off for anything in which the rider would ordinarily be eliminated.

In the "D" cross-country, 75 points were devoted to the cross-country jumping and 25 points to the rider's equitation. District Commissioner, Bart Mueller, was the judge for equitation. Susie Lotz, a local "B" rider, was chairman of jump judging.

Stable Management was slightly misnamed, as the horses were not stabled, but tied to trees and fences. Nevertheless, judge Julie Johnston, also a local "B" rider, found several things to count off for in the way of dirty tack, dirty horses, incorrect cooling out after the cross-country, and poor horsemanship in general.

Written tests were given after lunch, under the trees. It seems several Pony Clubbers have been taking advantage of the newly established library, as there was an over-all improvement in written tests.

The "C" Stadium Jumping was judged by Susie Lotz. This phase was replaced in the "D" division by three games, taken from the Bedford Cup Games. Mrs. Bethel Hunt, assisted by Mrs. Hugh Frank Smith, was in charge of games.

Flags for the cross-country course and all jump numbers were courtesy of Mr. Charles Hart, Sears Roebuck, and Co.

Adding, averaging, and posting of scores was handled by hard working Pony Club parents, Mr. Joseph Clarke, Mrs. Don Lansing, Mrs. Glen Medick, and Mrs. Morgan Newbern.

1960 Pony Club Instructors Course

John H. Fritz

The 1960 U.S. Pony Clubs Instructors' Course, held at Camp Teela-Wooket, Roxbury, Vermont, June 19-26, was even more successful in achieving its objectives than were the courses of previous years. For the first time real national representation was achieved. The 46 individuals enrolled in the course represented 31 clubs located in 13 different states ranging from Vermont in the northeast to California on the Pacific Coast. All but one of the 14 Pony Club Regions (Colorado) were represented. Particularly gratifying to the organizers was the presence of representatives of such recently organized clubs as Hawthorne Hill in Michigan and Saddle River in New Jersey. As last year, a number of those attending the course were on scholarships sponsored by the U.S.P.C. or by local clubs.

Course Program

Previous Instructors' Courses were held in connection with the School of Equitation program at Teela-Wooket. This year through the cooperation of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hayden, directors of Teela-Wooket, and T. Fred Marsman, director of the Teela-Wooket horsemanship program, the Vermont camp was opened a week early for the benefit of the Pony Club program. Thus the excellent string of Teela-Wooket horses and the riding facilities of the camp were available for the sole use of the U.S.P.C.

The well organized course program was drawn up by Dean Bedford of ElkrIDGE-Harford with the assistance and advice of Mrs. Frank Balboni and Colonel and Mrs. Howard Fair. Emphasis was placed on how to instruct and how to organize an instructional program. Each morning a demonstration class was conducted by Howard Fair or John Fritz in which instructional methods and techniques were brought out. Later in the day the students were divided into small class groups with each member of the group given an opportunity to instruct under the supervision of one of the members of the course staff.

Each evening there were lectures by various members of the staff. Subjects discussed included the principles of instruction, planning a lesson, instructing up to the "C" and "B" standards, foxhunting, how to judge a dressage test, and running a rally. Films on stable management and dressage were also shown.

Since the U.S.P.C. places great emphasis on stable management and horsemanship, attention was also given to these subjects in the course. Each individual enrolled was assigned the care of a horse throughout the week under the direction and supervision of Miss Sue Powers.

Mrs. Howard Fair lectured during the early part of the week on the care and fitting of tack, care of the horse after a ride, grooming, and the principles of watering and feeding. Miss Powers lectured later in the week on various types of feeds and hays with examples of each for the examination of the students.

Dr. Laurence S. Cushing of the large animal clinic of the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine was present for several days during the week and lectured to the group on various diseases and ailments of the horse. His lectures and discussions were extremely informative and well received. Of particular interest were a series of x-rays showing splints, ring bones, side bones, and other examples of unsoundness.

Towards the end of the week John Fritz conducted two working sessions on the flat and over fences with a group of potential "B" riders. The purpose was to point out the standard of knowledge and ability which Pony Club instructors and D.C.s should have in mind when deciding to recommend a Pony Clubber for a "B" examination.

To give those enrolled in the course experience in dressage judging, Miss Vivian Barth of North Shore rode the "Z" test on Captain Marsman's horse Snip. Each student judged the test and then compared their results with those of Captain Marsman and John Fritz. The latter two pointed out the good and bad points of the ride and explained the reasons for their evaluations of each movement.

One of the most popular afternoons of the week was that when all those enrolled in the course were divided into two groups and given an intensive riding lesson by Captain Marsman. Not only was it a good example of how large groups can be handled effectively in a class, but everyone gained a few pointers on how to improve his or her own horsemanship.

The Staff

The staff conducting the course was made up of individuals active in the U.S.P.C. and included Colonel and Mrs. Fair, Dean Bedford, Captain Marsman, Miss Sue Powers, Sidney Felton, Stephen Dyke, John Fritz, and Heber England. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Haight, Jr., and Mrs. John A. Reidy were on hand at the beginning of the week to help get the course underway.

Those Attending

Those attending the course included Susan Archer (Elkridge-Harford), Vivian Barth (North Shore), Dr. Victor Berliner (Somerset Hills), Jane Boynton (Somerset Hills), Mrs. C. T. Brown (Redland Hunt), Shelagh Burns (Atlanta), Linda Chapman (Green Spring), Mrs. Richard Conant (Glastonbury), Mrs. David Davis (Genesee Valley Hunt), Beth Drever (Litchfield), Betty Elliott (Musketaquid), Mrs. Frank Falqner (Blue Grass), Ann Foster (Orange County), Mrs. Jill French (Green Spring), Helmut Graetz (Keeneland), Mrs. Arthur Grafton (Blue Grass), Kathy Hall (Upper Valley), Frank Laimbeer (Genesee Valley), Joan Laskel (Millbrook), Mrs. R. ## 10th Annual Sale Md. Pony Breeders

One hundred and forty ponies were consigned to the Maryland Pony Breeders Tenth Annual Pony Sale held at Timonium, Md. on September 9. Sixty-five of these were crossbred ponies; the remaining were purebred Shetland, Welsh and Dartmoor ponies. The buyer had a wide choice, from riding ponies for lead-liners and advanced riders to excellent broodmares, some with foals at side.

Two new sections were introduced into the sale. A 4-H section was reserved at the end of the afternoon sale for 4-H projects. Four ponies were entered in this section with Paul Muller's bay filly bringing the top price of $235.00 for this division. A Dartmoor stallion and 3 mares (one with a filly foal at side) were offered in the other section in the hopes that these very useful ponies would go as a breeders' herd. Two were bought by Mrs. S. Carpenter-Carr of Del. - the remaining two to two separate buyers. The Average Dartmoor price was $260.00.

The Shetland section was larger this year with some very nice ponies selling. Woodcock Farm of New Hampshire sold a 5 year old silver dapple mare with a colt foal at side for the high Shetland price of $750.00. The average Shetland price was $344.00.

Forty-four Welsh ponies were sold. Mrs. Edward Wheeler of Darlington, Md. and Mr. John Ludwig of Mohnton, Pa. were the largest consignors, each with ten Welsh consignments. Mrs. Wheeler and Miss Mollie Butler of Ithaca, N.Y. shared the high price sale honors when their Welshmares sold for $900.00 each; Mrs. Wheeler's Severn Redbird, a three year old bay mare, and Miss Butler's Gwynedd Flashlight, a four year old black mare.

Mrs. Nancy Graham Dillon, a new consignor from Virginia, brought an excellent group of crossbred ponies to the sale, as evidenced by her crossbred gelding, Sir Pepper. He brought the crossbred high price of $675.00, well above the average crossbred price of $200.00.

Averages of the sale for the past few years show a trend toward lower prices. This of course, delights those who are buying ponies but somewhat dismays those who are selling! Ponies of excellent conformation and superior breeding still bring good prices however. The buyer has become more discriminating and better educated, perhaps through the renewed interest in ponies of fairly recent years.

The Maryland Pony Breeders insists on the natural footed, children's pony in their sales. All ponies are inspected to make sure they are of this type before they are entered in the catalog.

The Bloomfield Untouchables won the Michigan Junior Equestrian Team's Championship - (L. to r.) Peter Foley on Leprechaun; Mary Monaghan on Miss McNeil; Lucy Bates on Pegasus; John VanDe Water, Capt., on Play Boy.

Summer activity of the F.E.I. Junior Equestrian Team (A & B Divisions) was climaxed with the Three Day Event, held at Bloomfield Open Hunt, September. Participating Teams were: (B Division) Wallace Wolverines, Toledo Sparks, and Bloomfield Untouchables; (A Division) Toledo Bombers, Toledo Jets. The International Event was also held at this time. Challenging Teams in this event were; Northwestern of Chicago; Oak Brook of Chicago and Western Ontario Pony Club. Northwestern took the honors for this event.

Miss Lucy Bates of the Bloomfield Untouchables stood first for the Individual Low Score Award. V.H.

HORSES OKAY - NIX DONKEYS!

Permission was granted to a Blairmore, Alberta horseman by the local authorities this past summer enabling him to house a saddle horse and an injured mare within the town limits. The permission was quickly withdrawn, however, after complaints were received at a town council meeting from irate citizens. Council learned that the horseman had added donkeys to his stable, which were disturbing neighbors with their early morning braying. E.O.

Long Island PHA Jr.

There were the usual number of trophies and championships competed for in the usual manner at the LIPHA junior show. The award that was different was the Meadow Brook Hunt Pony Club Challenge Trophy. Pony Club members were scored all day by special judges on horsemanship, attitude and consideration. The judges' choice couldn't have been more appropriate, for no one could shower more loving care on their horse or pony than young Deborah Maloney. And she comes by her riding talent naturally, her father being the trainer, Jim Maloney, her mother a well known show rider before her marriage.

When Debbie was presented the trophy by D. C., Mrs. T.V.W. Cushny, she clutched it tightly and ran off as fast as her little legs could carry her to her parents car. No one was about to get that trophy back in case there had been any error.

Golden Gate Polo

Cornelius Guy

Three lucky members of the newly organized Golden Gate Park Polo Club had the time of their lives last month when they were flown to Honolulu as guests of Ruddy Tongg, President of the Pupukea Polo Club there, to play a match game against his son Ronn's team for the benefit of the Children's Hospital. Dr. and Mrs. Tom Schulte of Woodside, Dr. and Mrs. Bill Linfoot and son Cork, and Victor Graber of the Crescent Jewelers team were jetted over the Pacific and ensconced in the Royal Hawaiian Hotel, with a limousine from poloist Bob Allen's Grey Lines on tap. The game on Sunday was a 4 chukkar arena affair played in the walled stadium at Kapiolani Park, adjacent to Diamond Head. It was a real thriller which resulted in an overtime tie (4-4) before a wildly enthusiastic crowd.

The real highlight of the trip, though, for the whole group was the incomparable warmth and hospitality of these wonderful island people. When one of the visitors mentioned liking Chinese food, a wedding-type feast appeared complete with bird-nest and shark-fin soups and many more of the most delicious dishes imaginable, courtesy of Attorney Archie and Mrs. Wong. There was trap shooting and a "malosada" (Portuguese doughnut) breakfast at Earl Thacker's ranch in the Koko-head crater; surfing and swimming at Waikiki; boating off Diamond Head. The Tonggs even flew the Golden Gate Team to the neighboring island of Maui one afternoon for sightseeing and a match with the Maui team. A day was spent on a cattle ranch which sports a built-in flyway for duck shooting, with quail and pheasant as well.

Additional guests of the Tonggs were the Japanese Polo team from the Imperial Palace in Tokyo. Their team captain, Keishi (Casey) Hermano stopped off on his way East to enjoy some Sunday play at Golden Gate Park.

San Francisco polo has had a fine new facelifting this season. Match and tournament games are played each Sunday promptly at one o'clock. They are free and the crowd interest increasing with each passing week. Cars bearing the licenses of 44 different states have been checked onto the field. Parking space is becoming a premium and the grandstands drawing heavily regardless of the weather.

The games are fast and colorful and the turf, which has been rejuvenated, stands up well under the ponies. The crowds that are filling the polo stadium these days are due in no small part to the excellent announcing job of polo manager Wally Hulse, who also handles the promotional chores. It is quite a sight to see Wally's audience take to the field at half time and between games to tramp divots. They do it now without his request.

Practice games, where beginners in all stages of polo get a chance to learn and the veteran players an opportunity to school their greener ponies, are conducted on alternate Wednesdays at 3 P.M. Anyone is welcome to participate in these. Plans are now in progress for special polo instruction for the "little league" set, with the possibility of an arena polo facility being set up.

Golden Gate Park Polo Club is promoting POLO FOR THE PUBLIC in large capitol letters, and it is catching on. Good sportsmanship is more evident in this club than on any polo field we have ever seen, because everyone who plays here does so to enjoy himself, to truly learn the game and to have fun on horseback. The slogan of Wally Hulse "Have ponies - will play" is having its effect. Anyone who has a horse can borrow a helmet and mallet and sally forth into the Wednesday combats.

The Golden Gate Park Polo Club was represented in the U. S. Open Championship matches at Oakbrook Polo Club in Hinsdale, Illinois by nine goaler, Dr. Bill

Linfoot, who shipped eight of the top ponies in the Graber-Linfoot string to Oakbrook for some of the world's best polo. Linfoot, a protege of the great Willie Tevis (who identifies himself as "the world's oldest polo player", and who initiated the now famous 100 Mile-One Day Endurance Ride, won by the local polo pony trainer, Ernie Sanchez) played his first tournament polo at Golden Gate Park, and credits most of his rise to the top five group in American polo to the basic training he received there.

Letters To The Editor

Let's Go Half Way

Dear Sir:

I have read with great interest, during the past months, various articles and letters which have appeared in The Chronicle bemoaning the lack of publicity accorded the horse show world.

Where does the fault lie? We have found in this area through the experience we have had that it rests to a great extent with the members of horse show society. Somebody has to meet the press and radio half way.

Four years ago, Mrs. Jane Messler, owner of Oak Ridge Farm, and I were faced with the problem of obtaining publicity for our PHA Chapter's first horse show. At that time, we launched a campaign to have horse shows treated by the press and radio as a competitive sport. We talked with newspaper people in the sports departments and the sports staffs at the radio and TV stations as well. It took a little doing, but they finally went along with the idea. Since then, there have been innumerable trips to the papers, pages of copy written, hundreds of phone calls and many arguments. But, we've gotten what we were after.

Today, horse show advance stories and results are printed on THE SPORTS PAGE of the city newspaper. Not only local shows, which are covered with an article, results and often a picture, but winners at out-of-town shows as well. During the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden, we are kept informed about our local riders daily through wire service bought by the paper.

TV and Radio stations have been most cooperative in publicizing area shows with spots, interviews and movies they have taken themselves for TV sports shows. We supply them with short promotion spots and a fact sheet and they do the rest.

Public interest is there; it needs to be exploited. This is the fact we have to sell. All it takes is someone to care enough to put forth a little effort.

Very truly yours,
Barbara L. Massey

How?

Dear Sir:

Re M.L.S.'s question in the August 19th issue (in In The Country), I am a short lady (5-3 1/2) but I know the length of my step or pace and I find it useful whether it be indetermining the distance between jumps or the length of a chip shot or putt on the golf course. Number of strides isn't the issue - it's knowing the distance between the steps that counts. How tall is M.L.S. and has she ever considered measuring her stride and putting it to use?

Sincerely yours,
N.R.E.

Chronicle On TV

Dear Sir:

I know that The Chronicle is widely read throughout the United States, but did you know that last Sunday night (October 9, 1960) it was also widely publicized on television? I saw it in the hands of Tab Hunter on his own show. It just goes to show how popular The Chronicle has become among people, including movie stars.

I just thought that you might be interested to know that The Chronicle has now worked its way into television!

Sincerely,
Vickey Weller

Not Unique

Dear Sirs:

In your column "In The Country" of Friday, October 7, 1960, E. C. P. wonders if the Metamora Hunt of Metamora, Michigan, is unique in hunting two stallions regularly.

The Old Dominion Hounds hunted "Irish Luck" the famous hunter sire, for six consecutive seasons and we now hunt his son "Gaelic Luck" and another sire "Hick's Error" regularly throughout the season. This is the first time for "Hick's Error", who was recently acquired, but it will be the fourth season for "Gaelic Luck".

Sincerely yours,
Albert P. Hinckley, M.F.H.

the whole eight of 'em swept across the finish line together. It took a keen-eyed judge to call 'em correctly.

The smarter owners kept figures, just as the track handicapper did, so if that official was out of line a yard or two in his placings at the starting point, the wise lads knew about it.

They also knew that their dogs "ran true." And because of that, some of them worked out a fix. They knew if one dog could be moved up two or three yards he'd be a sure winner.

In the race selected for the coup, seven of the owners knew one another so well that all knew the others would cheat.

They suspected the owner of the eighth dog was honest, so he couldn't be trusted. No monkey business could be pulled with that man's dog, which actually simplified the plan. Instead of moving one box up, they'd move seven back and wager on the dog belonging to the cad who was supposed to be honest.

It was no trick to move each box back two yards, at night on a poorly-lighted track, with the starting point on the edge of a forest.

The bet was put into the hands of a trusted relative of one of the plotters with instructions not to place it until the very last minute and to get the best odds he could.

To his surprise he got 4 to 1 for the whole roll.

Even more to his surprise was the finish of the race. There was the usual near-dead-heat involving most of the dogs, but the one that had been given an unofficial and expected-to-be-winning handicap was dead last by a good four yards.

The cheaters never did figure out what happened.

It was simple, though. Any time seven guys, plus a relative, have a secret, somebody's going to let the word leak out. And news travels, where there's gambling, faster than at any place else in the world.

The bookie heard about it. He could have denounced the cheaters, but he felt that wouldn't be sporting - and there was no money in it.

He had a better idea, and he had an accomplice, too.

Between races, it was the custom to turn off the lights on the track, so before the boys took their dogs to the starting boxes the course was pitch dark.

The bookie's helper got in his work during the period of gloom. He simply attached a long wire to the back side of the box holding the dog the owners had elected to win and took the other end of the wire back into the woods.

After the dog men had finished juggling the boxes around and had started up the track, the bet-taker's henchman dragged the box back six yards.

From 200 yards away, and looking straight down the track, you couldn't tell the difference.

To this day, the fellows who tried to engineer that coup look at one another and say, like that man on TV, "It isn't whether you win or lose, but how the hell did that dog miss by four yards?"

Another to make it 2 straight at the meeting was L. Clay Camp's *Tantot. Meeting 12 contenders in the Laurel Ridge, a 1-mile turf test which closed the program, the 6-year-old gelding got up in the final yardage to defeat Thaddeus R. Trout's favored *Lionhearted by a length. Tiring after setting the early pace, the Rappahannock Farms' Rapsallion was 3rd, 1 1/2 lengths behind *Lionhearted and a scant neck to the good of Major General Richard K. Mellon's *Alice Redthorn.

As the field entered the stretch jockey R. Neff on C. W. Balling's Our Venture permitted his mount to run up on the heels of General Mellon's Bigamist. Our Venture came down, causing Mrs. Amory H. ## WELTER WEIGHTS

There was an interesting discussion at a recent British north country meeting as to the highest weight ever carried in a race. After several owners and trainers had recalled steeplechasers carrying 182 lbs. and flat racers 175. I was not believed (though no one would bet on it) that horses had carried 420 lbs. in a race at York. Proof can be found in the Racing Calendar.

This was in a 100 Guineas match at York, May meeting 1788, when the famous Durham sportsman, Mr. Geo. Baker Baker, of Elemore Hall, rode his grey horse, Windlestone (by Magnet), against Mr. Maynard's bay mare, 30 stone each, owners up.

It is said that all Northumbrian, Durham, and Yorks sportsmen assembled on Knavesmire to watch this 1 mile welter. They fancied Mr. Baker Baker's horse so much he started at 2 to 1 on, but was beaten by the mare.

In 1867 there was a 20st (280 lb.) match over a mile at Wark steeplechases in Northumberland for 200 lbs. This was won by Mr. Calder. His Berwickshire grandson is now riding in 'chases and breeding bloodstock.

There are other instances of mammoth weights being carried both in races and matches. For example, Mr. Tom Dawson, who trained at Middleham won the 1860 Caledonian Welter Handicap at Edinburgh with Spiteful Dick carrying 176 lbs. The remarkable thing about the performance was that Spiteful Dick had run second in the previous race that afternoon and was saddled again next day, and beaten a neck. They didn't keep horses to look at in those days.

Of course 12st 7 is not a remarkable weight. As recently as the June (1960) Lewes fixture Staghound had that impost in the Southdown Welter Plate. J.F.B.

Way out in front are the 2-year-olds bred at Ocala Stud, and out in front too are the owners who discovered the value of having Florida-breds from Ocala Stud in their racing stables. The figures above tell the story—the Ocala story—a story of success in getting 2-year-olds to the races, and of seeing them win in the best stakes company. And the Ocala Florida-breds consistently go on to become good older horses.

The names that went into the entry box for the famed Cowdin and Champagne Stakes point up the quality of horses bred at Ocala Stud. Three of the starters in each were bred at Ocala and two of them were bred and sold by Ocala Stud. Indications are for another good year for Ocala horses. Last year Ocala Stud was the second leading market breeder and the farm's average per placing (number of 1sts, 2nds and 3rds divided into money won) was twice as much as the leading market breeder.

Look ahead to the January, 1961, sale of 2-year-olds at Hialeah, to be conducted by the Florida Breeders' Sales Association. Ocala Stud will have another grand crop of 2-year-olds, sound, solid juveniles ready to run—by leading sires such as Rough 'n Tumble, Count Flame, Fair Ruler, etc., and young stallions like Needles and Correlation. It is a proven fact. The early conditioning and training given the young horses at Ocala Stud pays off. Records prove it.

SIR PETER FARQUHAR, BART.

Among distinguished judges who will officiate at the 1960 Royal Agricultural Winter Fair, to be held in the Coliseum, Toronto, in November, will be Lt. Col. Sir Peter Farquhar, Bart., D.S.O., of Dorset, England.

Lt. Col. Farquhar will judge hunters at the Royal Horse Show. Keenly interested in hounds and horses, he has judged at many of the leading horse shows in the United Kingdom and will be included in the panel of judges at the Horse of the Year Show at Wembley in October of this year.

During World War II he served in France and Belgium, prior to Dunkirk, with the 16th/5th Lancers and, later, saw action in the Middle East with the 1st Armoured Division and the 9th Lancers. He was wounded early in 1942 but, after recovering, commanded the 3rd Hussars and was awarded the D.S.O. at El Alamein and later, in Italy, a bar to the D.S.O. He was wounded again in the fall of 1944 and invalided home.

He has been a Master of Fox Hounds since 1927 with the Tedworth, the Meynell, the Whaddon Chase and the Portman Hunts. He has been most successful as a breeder of foxhounds and has won a number of top awards in England's Major hound shows.

W.C.H.J.E.A. PORTABLE SHOW JUMPS

Among plans for the Western Canada Hunter, Jumper, Equestrian Association is the erection of two sets of portable show jumps to be available to smaller Alberta horse groups who wish to stage shows. These jumps, it is hoped, will be available for the 1961 season to those smaller towns and districts that cannot easily provide jumps for their shows. The association will locate one set at Calgary to service the southern and south-central portion of the province, and the other set will be at Edmonton to be available to further the hunter-jumper sport in the northern portion of Alberta. Membership, incidentally, in the WCHJEA has grown from twelve to well over 75.

1961 BRYN MAWR HOUND SHOW

A. William Battin, Secretary of the Bryn Mawr Hound Show, writes: - "A Special Meeting of the Bryn Mawr Hound Show Committee was held Wednesday, October 5th, in Philadelphia and it was unanimously voted that the 41st Bryn Mawr Hound Show will be held Friday, June 2nd, 1961, at the Radnor Hunt Club.

The Chronicle welcomes this change and believes that it will have a most salutary effect on the quality and quantity of hounds exhibited at this, our premier hound show. In the editorial which appeared in our Hunt Roster for 1956 (September 21) entitled "Time for Hound Shows", we advocated a change from the traditional September date to one in June. The reasons for the change which we there set forth have since become continually more compelling. We are confident that the 1961 show will be the biggest and best for many years.

FUTURE OF FAIRFAX HUNT EVENTS

The Fairfax Hunt Races and other activities of the Fairfax Hunt Association will be welcomed at Sunset Hills Farms for many years to come, according to a statement issued jointly by Arthur A. Desser, president of Lefcourt Realty Corporation and A. Smith Bowman and E. Delong Bowman who sold the 6600 acre Fairfax County tract to the national development firm earlier this year.

Plans do not call for any early development of the section of the property where the races recently took place. "In fact," Mr. Desser commented, "we plan a large section of country estates at Sunset Hills and, if it is economically feasible, we would like to keep the Fairfax Hunt Races as a permanent fixture of this part of Sunset Hills."

William duPont, Jr.'s Berlo (*Helio-polis-Fabrose, by Rosemont), bred and raised at Walnut Hall, Boyce, Va., who recently beat the best fillies in the country in decisive style, is thus described by Charles Hatton in "The Morning Telegraph". "Berlo is 16 hands, 'long as a boat' and two horses wide. She looks like one of Mr. Munnings' burly brown hunters, with a dished Arab profile, immense stifle and bone enough to suit the most fastidious judge at the Dublin Horse Show."

Mrs. Corey's Royal Title collected 15 points to win the working hunter championship. Russell Carew was up on Royal Title.

ODD EQUINE APPETITES

Sometimes racehorses, and others, develop or acquire strange appetites. These cravings extend all the way from the bizarre to the ridiculous. To wit, last year Jamin, French winner of the International Trot at Roosevelt Raceway, had to be plied with artichokes. This year at the same track the Australian horse Iton threw a tantrum every time his grooms failed to appease his odd craving. He's partial to schmalzbrot, a dark bread smeared with pork fat drippings. A number of years back, a campaigner on the Western Canada circuit developed a penchant for pickles (dills) dipped in mayonnaise (ugh), and would sulk for hours if his gastronomical yearnings weren't appeased. Still another Prairie runner received a certain amount of notoriety a decade or so ago not for any odd diet he may have had, but because he disdained oats in favor of almost anything else he was proffered. Imagine, an oat-burner turning up his nose at a helping of oats! Unheard of!

Smith, Kusner and Logistics

Win Martini and Rossi Point-to-Point Awards

At the United Hunts Dinner Dance, at The Plaza Hotel, New York City, on October 20th, through the courtesy of Amory L. Haskell, President, and Mrs. Ogden Phipps, Chairman, the Martini and Rossi Point-to-Point Awards were presented to Crompton Smith, Jr. of Warrenton, Va., for the leading gentleman rider; to Miss Kathy Kusner of Arlington, Va., for the leading lady rider; and to Col. Bertrand de Nadaillac's Logistics for the leading horse.

The trophies were awarded on the following basis: The point-to-point meetand Orange County. Logistics was named leading horse by winning 4 races - at Casanova, Piedmont, Orange County and Blue Ridge.

The presentations were made by Mrs. M. O. Crane, The Plains, Va., one of the publishers of The Chronicle. In the absence of Col. de Nadaillac, a French Army officer who has been ordered back to Paris, the best horse trophy was received by Mrs. Ray Norton Jr. of Rockville, Md., who played a major part in conditioning Logistics for his races.

Crompton Smith, Jr., a member of the

from the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association.

Kathy Kusner, a member of the Fairfax Hunt and recently turned 20, is equally accomplished as a rider of race horses and show horses. In 1959 she competed in 4 point-to-points, won 3 and was second in the 4th. At the age of 17 she won the high jump event at Upperville, clearing 7 ft., 3 in., the greatest height achieved by any lady in this country in modern times. This past summer she has been showing the great jumper Windsor Castle, for which his owner, W. R. Ballard of Canada, is said to have paid $30,000. As a youngster, she worked at Mrs. Jane Dillon's Junior School of Equitation, Vienna, Va. and more recently has been coached by Mike Smithwick and by Bertalan de Nemethy, coach of the U. S. Jumping Team.

Logistics, registered in the Thoroughbred Stud Book as Air W. (Air Cobra-Myra W.) was purchased at the race track in 1958 as a 5-year-old by Ray Norton, Jr. of Rockville, Md. for Col. Bertrand de Nadaillac, a Cavalry officer attached to the French Military Mission to this country, who called him Logistics, the branch of military science in which his owner specializes. Hunted the following winter with the Potomac Hunt, Logistics electrified point-to-point followers in the spring by winning four races in a month on successive Saturdays. He also showed his versatility by winning a Combined Training Event, the Blue Ridge Horse Trials. In 1960 he again won 4 point-to-points and then, his owner receiving orders to return to France, was sold to W. E. Schlusemeyer of Warrenton, Va., joint M.F.H. of the Old Dominion Hounds.

ings must be sponsored by a Hunt recognized by or registered with the Masters of Foxhounds Association of America. The winning riders must be members of or subscribers to one of such Hunts. The horse must have been regularly hunted with one of such Hunts during the preceding hunting season and certified as such by the Master or Joint Masters of Foxhounds. The awards were made on a point system. First place counted three (3) points; second place, two (2) points; and third place, one (1) point. The compilation was made by the office of The Chronicle, Middleburg, Va., official publication of the M.F.H. Association.

Crompton Smith, Jr. became the leading point-to-point gentleman rider of 1960 by placing 1st at Middleburg, 1st and 3rd at Piedmont, and 2nd at Casanova, Orange County and Elkridge-Harford. Miss Kusner earned her award by placing 1st at Elkridge-Harford and 2nd at Piedmont

Warrenton Hunt, comes from a line of gentleman riders. During the 1930's his father won most of the principal point-to-points in this country on such horses as Sober Sides and Mary Barry, while his grandfather, Harry Worcester Smith, won the Hunter Steeplechase at Saratoga in 1897 and the Champion and the American Grand National in 1900 and 1901. Crompton Jr., now 23, rode his first point-to-point (the Orange County) when he was 15, falling 3 times in the same race. Since then he has ridden over practically every timber course in the country, both point-to-point and hunt race meetings; has won and placed innumerable times; and has broken a leg, a shoulder, a finger and both feet as the result of falls. In 1959 he won the timber classic, the Maryland Hunt Cup, riding Fluctuate. Emmett Roberts and Mike Smithwick have contributed a lot to his knowledge of race riding. He holds an amateur's license
